

Capital Circle NW: A median strip was transferred to Leon County along with the roadways and drainage system in Lakewood Business Center. The parcel could be held for right-of-way, or sold for use in advertising.

Greenon Lane: Mission Manor Unit 3 parcels were transferred to the County by tax deed. Adjacent parcels are developed with townhouses. The lots could be sold, or used for affordable housing development.

Tower Road Sand Mine: The 78-acre site, west of the Tower Road park, was purchased for mineral mining by the County when the S.A.F.E. program was active, using Gas Tax revenues. The use was opposed by neighborhood representatives due to the associated truck traffic, with no mining occurring since its purchase in 1993.

F.A. Ash Borrow Pit: The 112-acre site is used for stockpiling material and limited mining, and was also purchased using Gas Tax revenues. Portions of the site may be suitable for other uses while maintaining the active use by Public Works.

Mabry Manor Court: Two lots transferred to the County by tax deeds. These may be sold or retained for use as affordable housing development.

Eisenhower Road Pits: The two parcels are currently used by Public Works staff as the material receiving site for Lake Munson restoration and roadside/stormwater pond sediment removal operations. The excess lead was removed from the smaller tract, which is used by Mosquito Control to stockpile material and maintain the mosquitofish hatchery. The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission has expressed an interest in placing future material from the Lake Munson restoration at this site.

Lake Palm Drive: The County purchased the 33-acre site in order to realign the Callen Ditch and Central Drainage Ditch confluence with Munson Slough. The uplands can be developed, but the site is identified in the Blueprint 2000 Project Definitions report as the site of a regional stormwater facility and the Capital Cascades Trail.

Bluebird Road: The entire 59-acre tract was purchased to gain control of the 100-year floodplain for the Munson Slough realignment and stabilization. Approximately 17 acres are unaffected by the floodplain or wetlands, and are available for use or sale.

Capital City Estates: Four parcels remain from the County's affordable housing project with Black Jack Construction. The parcels are being evaluated for sale to Black Jack or for County use.

Applications:
